

Share your experience

Calling people from Black or Pakistani Backgrounds

Do you have experience of blood cancer such as myeloma, lymphoma, leukaemia, MDS or MPN? Do you want to help improve access to clinical trials for your community?

Some types of blood cancer are more common in certain ethnic groups, yet people from these communities are less likely to take part in clinical trials. They might be missing out on life-saving treatments. You can help change this by sharing your experience of blood cancer by joining a workshop or interview.

Key information:

- ✓ You must be from Black or Pakistani background, be 18+ and have a connection to blood cancer.
- ✓ Based in London (Not from here? Get in touch).
- ✓ It will take 1-2 hours and we will pay you for your time.
- ✓ You'll be invited to attend a group workshop or participate in an interview to talk about your experience.

How to get involved:
For more information, scan the QR code or contact Veronica at veronica.awuzudike@tsip.co.uk